

John Kelly on the Presidential Elections of 1876 and 1880.

John Kelly, in a speech at Springfield, Mass., June 28th, said: "The great mistake of Tilden was in not making his views known to members of Congress, so that the fraud could be prevented; but our friend Tilden was unwilling to give an opinion. He ought to have known that a conspiracy was being formed, and after his election he should have said to Congress: 'I have been elected, as unmistakable evidence shows, and if you do not place me in my position, I shall appeal to the people.' Some say this would have been very wrong, and would have caused revolution, but I do not think so. The whole affair was a game of brag; but the wrong still remains, and the dark spot on the history of our country can never be obliterated. I have found an impression that I opposed Hancock in 1880, and this, gentlemen, is the first time I have referred to that subject. What interest would we have to defeat Hancock? We did as much as we could to nominate him, and probably no people worked harder than those of Tammany Hall for his election. He was defeated by Tilden and his friends, and I will tell you why. Tilden was dissatisfied with the result of the convention. He wanted the nomination himself. That letter, which some people say is a great letter for that purpose—that 'great' letter was given to the press before it was brought before the convention. The country didn't believe in him after 1876. They believed in his ability, but doubted his courage. He made up his mind to avenge himself, and the figures show the vote fell off where the Tilden element predominated, while it increased where Tammany influence prevailed. These, with 15,000 or 20,000 men whom the Republicans brought in from New England, defeated General Hancock."

Mud Being Thrown at Headley.

A New York Times Cincinnati special says: Opposition to Judge Headley has arisen in an unexpected quarter. He was leading counsel for the assignee of Archbishop Parrell in the suit against the church property, and as such fought for the sale of nearly all the churches, the school houses, cemeteries and other property belonging to the Catholic church in Cincinnati. The case was tried and submitted to the District Court nearly one year ago. The charge is now made that Headley, fearing the result of the decision, which ever way it may be given, has caused it to be held back, and will continue to use his influence to prevent its being rendered until after the October election. Two of the Judges of the District Court, it is said, have been ready to give their decision for some time, but the third, acting in the interest of Headley, keeps asking for more time. The creditors are disappointed and indignant at the delay. They are forty-five in number, and claim to be able to influence 10,000 votes. These they threaten to have cast solidly against Headley if the District Court decision is longer delayed. The unfortunate feature of the situation for Headley is that were the decision rendered, still stronger opposition would probably be excited among the Catholics, whose churches would possibly be subject to sale for the payment of the Archbishop's debts. Whatever is done the case is certain to embarrass Headley.

Justice Field's Traveling Expenses.

The New York Tribune calls attention to the recent statement of Justice Field that he travels nine thousand miles a year in attending to judicial duties. His traveling expenses amount to more than one thousand dollars a year when he goes alone, and more than two thousand dollars a year when his wife accompanies him. He says Judges alone, of all high government officials, have to pay their own traveling expenses, which Field freely declares he considers an outrage. Of course, passes are offered to him every year, but he always declines them. It is stated that Field's property, estimated at about $750,000, has been mostly acquired since his appointment to the Supreme bench.

"They Will Not Be Arthur Delegates."

Dezendorf of Virginia says: "The Republican straight-out State Committee, to meet in Richmond, August 19th, will issue a call for a State Convention of the Republican straight-outs to be held in Richmond next year. This convention will nominate a full State ticket and also send delegates to the next Republican National Convention. They will not be Arthur Delegates."

The estimated decrease of the public debt for June is $17,500,000. This would make the total reduction of the debt for the fiscal year about $137,325,000.

A Busy Place.

[Truckee Republican.]

The Truckee Lumber Company's factory is being run to its fullest capacity. A few days ago the working time was lengthened to twelve hours a day. Eighty-three men and boys are now employed in the factory alone, and still they are unable to keep ahead of the work.

Three car loads of salmon boxes were shipped to Alaska, Wednesday last. This is the third shipment that has been made to the same place this season. An average of two car loads of fruit and packing boxes are shipped daily. Over two million feet of box lumber is now stored in the new yard across the river. They will next week commence using this, and in the meantime box lumber that is turned out of the saw mill, will be stored in the old yard between the factory and the mill.

The daily shipments of packing boxes, sash, doors, blinds, and rough and dressed lumber, now averages between eight and ten car loads.

The saw mill is now running night and day, and they are turning out about 90,000 feet every twenty-four hours. Besides this, they use all that Elie Ellen cuts, and considerable from their Dog Valley mill. The box factory alone consumes an average of 35,000 feet of lumber daily.

Their system is so perfect that the waste outside of the bark amounts to little or nothing. The slabs are taken from the saw and cut up into lath bolts, and box lumber, and the waste that will make neither is converted into wood. They have recently set up an Everett shingle machine, and the best of the slabs are cut into suitable lengths and taken to the dry house, where they are sawed up into box material. This makes a saving of about 2,000 feet a day, of material that has heretofore been thrown aside or made into wood.

Sherman as an Osculator.

[Washington Letter.]

General Sherman is the champion kisser of America. He never kisses boys or babies, but he lets no pretty girls escape. If he had but devoted himself as assiduously to the babies as he has to their big sisters he might have been President before this. A lovely girl with ripe, red lips, who has known the General all her life, was suddenly seized by the gallant hero, about noon the other day, right in front of the Ebbitt House, and smartly kissed square on the lips. She didn't mind the kiss of course, but she didn't like the publicity. She frowned fiercely on the General as she thought of the picturesque scene of a moment before, and then said sharply, "How dare you, General, treat me so?" "But, tut, child," said the grizzled veteran, "I am old enough to be your father; yes, your grandfather. Don't let us have any foolishness over a little matter like a kiss." And the frown passed away in a smile. A near friend of the general, estimated recently that the general has a hundred thousand kisses since the war, "and the old gentleman says," he continued, "that when he is about to die he wants eight of the prettiest girls in the neighborhood to gather around him and kiss him to death. He wants a taste of heaven before he dies."

Arthur at a Colored Meeting.

[Washington Critic.]

The following episode of President Arthur's recent trip to Florida has just come to light. While in the quaint old town of St. Augustine the President and Secretary Chandler arranged to attend service on Sunday morning at a colored church. When the deacons of the church became aware that such distinguished people were to be present, the front row of seats was reserved for them, to which they were escorted with due form and ceremony. The minister threw all of his available muscular eloquence and earnestness into the prayer with which he opened the service, and then arose and announced that "dis congregashun will jine in singin' de gud ole hymn, 'Bring forth dat ryal diadem.'" The congregation arose, led by the President's party, and the gray-topped preacher, after nervously adjusting his spectacles, repeated from the hymn-book in a clear voice:

Bring forth dat ryal diadem
And Crown Him Lord of all.
Each couplet was repeated by the divine and then sung by the congregation until the entire hymn had been completed, and those who were present declared that President Arthur's voice was heard above all the congregation, ringing out the inspiring words of "dat gud ole hymn."

Inasmuch as the question of immigration is becoming a vital one in the Eastern states, would it not be well to review it as a whole, and not solely in regard to Irish paupers. There are numerous arrivals every year from abroad of persons who, under a strict construction of the laws regulating foreign immigration, would be forbidden to land. They do land, however, and drift off to swell the ranks of the thrifty and criminal classes. This should not be allowed; because, not only do they lower the moral and social tone, but they lower the political tone as well. In a few years, the male immigration whatever his character may be, becomes a voter, and acquires a voice in the government of the country. When our political system confers this important right on aliens, it follows that the utmost care should be taken to admit to residence and citizenship only those who are worthy. In this category are Mormon immigrants, who, although for the most part young and vigorous people are very ignorant, and come to the country to join a political and religious organization opposed in principle to the Constitution and laws of the United States. Whatever may be its economic merit, therefore, Mormon immigration is by no means desirable.—S. F. Post.

Mr. Mackay, the bonanza king, has bought from Lord Lansdowne a famous Rembrandt portrait, the choicest gem of the Bowood gallery, for £5,000. Mackay is also reported to have purchased a collection of pictures at Leigh Court, Somerset, for £110,000.

Artesian Wells.

The C. P. Railroad Company have made arrangements with J. A. Blossom to inspect the country along the line of the railroad from the line of this State to Ogden, with a view of obtaining flowing water by artesian wells.

Should water be obtained in desirable quantities a large number of wells will be bored. If a plentiful supply of water can be obtained in Utah it might be the means of inducing the company to try the experiment in this State, and would certainly be a paying proposition.

All that our lands require is a sufficient quantity of water to raise large crops and our sagebrush plains can be made to blossom like the rose. The experiment is worthy of a trial. So says the Battle Mountain Messenger.

Picnic of the Knights of Pythias.

The Knights of Pythias, of Storey county, will give their first annual picnic at Treadway's Park, Carson City, on Saturday, July 14 next. The prizes offered are many and magnificent, and the variety of games, shooting and other field pleasures, cover sufficient latitude to meet the taste of everybody.

This being the first picnic ever given by the combined Lodges of the Knights of Storey county they propose to make this a gala occasion, and one that shall pleasantly dwell in the remembrance of all those who may be present. No money will be spared to perfect the arrangements of the festivities, and no efforts will be lacking to produce pleasure and harmony throughout.

The Virginia Chronicle printing establishment is now in course of removal from its old quarters on Taylor street to the fine two-story-and-basement building at No. 35 South O Street, formerly occupied by the Virginia Savings Bank.

The work of moving a large daily newspaper and job printing office is very slow and necessarily interferes with the daily routine labor in all departments. Therefore the Chronicle asks its patrons to kindly overlook such defects as may occur for the next two or three days in the appearances of the paper.

Whoopie! and one hundred and ten in the shade don't it?

Andy Russell, the old timer, is in town from his stock range near Pyramid Lake.

The railroad company have the frame up for a coal shed across the river, near the new shops. It is to be three hundred feet long by sixty wide.

The carpenters have commenced putting up the frame for the new round house, and the masons have nearly finished the walls of the new machine shops.

Dr. Wilson is still at this place and doing a good business. He has been kept busy while he has been in town, and all are well satisfied with his work.

Wednesday evening, about 8 o'clock, an Indian came into Charley Lewis' saloon looking for an officer to arrest a drunken Indian who had beaten his squaw on the head with a rock, at the Indian camp near town. Officer Shields made a visit to the scene of the row, and found the unfortunate squaw with the back of her head covered with clotted blood.

He states that she was a pitiful sight to see. He could not ascertain how bad she was hurt, but as near as he could tell, she will not live, as he thinks her skull is smashed in. The Indian who did the stoning could not be found. All the information the officer could gain was, "We heap no sabe him. Him Injun come Austin Piuty man; no know him." All efforts are being made to find the culprit and bring him to justice. Of late there has been several drunken Indians around town, and if the party that sells them liquor is found out, he will get the full benefit of the law.

The people of this place are to have a picnic on the Fourth at Herman's Grove, across the river, and a ball in the evening at Gladding's Hall. Over one hundred dollars have been subscribed for the occasion.

"BECAME SOUND AND WELL."

R. V. Pieter, M. D.: Dear Sir—My wife, who has been ill for over two years, and had tried many other medicines, became sound and well by using your "Favorite Prescription." My niece was also cured by its use, after several physicians had failed to do her any good. Yours truly,

Thomas J. Metcalf, Hatcher's Station, Ga.

Osburn & Shoemaker have just received from the manufactory in the East a large lot of Royal St. John Sewing Machines, which they are selling at prices below what other sewing machines can be sold for, as they get them directly from the manufactory and pay no middle-men profits. For dressing the hair, and beautifying it when gray nothing is as satisfactory as Parker's Hair Balsam.

The reduction of the national debt during the fiscal year will be in round numbers $125,000,000. In only one year in the history of the public debt has the reduction been as great. Last year it was $175,000,000, the year before $84,000,000, and in the preceding year $73,000,000. What it will be for the coming year nobody can foretell with any degree of accuracy. The changes in the tariff and internal revenue laws make an estimate of the receipts for the coming year impossible.

A Reformer's Fate.

At the Nevada Insane Asylum. Visitor, pointing to a sad-eyed emaciated inmate—

"Failed in business?"

"No."

"What then?"

President Arthur, is receiving the open commendations of the country for his radical retrenchment in the Department of Internal Revenue. Even Harper's Weekly thanks him, and admits that he is entitled to praise for his firmness in the matter.

Home Comfort.

After a Rainy Ride a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People.

"I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Doctor E., as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live till morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a sharp attack of colic, which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no, they must remain ignorant as pigs and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not."

"Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies, as you call them, do you expect to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea.

"In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPSICINE PLEASANT PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a dreary ride."

In all ordinary complaints it cures at once. All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly called expulsion or extraction, or by a union of two processes. Benson's Plaster promotes both. It incites the torpid organs to act, and sends its healing, soothing influence through the myriad pores of the skin. All other plasters oblige the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's Plaster gives him help to-day. When is better, do you think? Buy the CAPSICINE and keep it in the house. Price 25 cents.
